

U.S. STILL ESCORTS CONVOYS

Fiery Talks Mark GOP's County Tour

Republican officials and office seekers ranging from the U.S. Secretary of Labor down to precinct workers dined, orated, shook hands, danced and toured from one end of Bucks County to the other yesterday in a day-long quest for votes in the Nov. 4 elections.

The busy political day started with a breakfast rally in Quakertown with a menu that featured speeches by U. S. Senate Candidate Hugh Scott and Governor Candidate Arthur T. McGonigle. It ended with three simultaneous giant rallies, where dancing followed the campaign speeches.

Andrew J. Gleason, candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs was also among the speakers, with Congressman Willard S. Curtin and Candidates Marvin V. Keller, for state senator and Assemblyman Candidates Margarette S. Kooker and Alan D. Williams, Jr. and County GOP Chairman Frederick E. Ziegler.

Evening Rally
The evening rally at Bristol, in the Goodwill Fire Hall, was the biggest event in the political day, and was full of fiery speeches. Before a shouting and whistling crowd of 750 persons McGonigle

Good Evening!

Gloomy skies all over.

Maybe we'd better start getting used to 'em. November winds whistling around the ankles sooner than we think.

Determined campaign against a proposed landfill in Falls township begun by folks mindful of rich historic values and giving much in time, talent and money for restoration of beautiful Historic Fallsington to its full colonial charm.

They're properly justified, to be sure, and we're sure Falls officials will fully consider their position. Somehow, somehow in this rush for progress and expansion we've got to take time out to completely understand the need of protecting and enhancing those priceless historic heritages for which Lower Bucks is also famous.

Mr. Eisenhower fires away with yesterday, this time in San Francisco second "give 'em hell" speech cisco, where he demanded corrupt labor unions be fumigated by the next Congress.

This is something of a different like than we've been accustomed to listening to and don't think for a moment the country isn't sitting up and taking notice. As for fumigating the corrupt unions, he said a mouthful.

One thing you've got to understand about these unions. It's the leadership that represents corruption in vilest form, not the rank-and-file who have always represented everything best in American citizenship.

Dulles and Chiang Kai-shek confer at Taipei as Red Chinese loose the big shells again on Quemoy.

Some criticism of Mr. John Foster Dulles since he took over the toughest job in the world, but you can't help but agree the man has worked at it with amazing patience, perseverance and, everything considered, considerable success.

"How did Percy go through his rich uncle's inheritance so fast?" "Well, he spent a good bit of it on wine, women and song. The rest of it he squandered."

A smart man is a husband who thinks twice before saying nothing.

It's not so hard making money these days. It's making a living that's difficult.

Watch your driving.

Arthur T. McGonigle, Republican candidate for governor, shakes the hand of Jerry Catania, of 56 Indian Red Road, Levittown, at the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corp. (Courier-Times Photo)

15 Transferred From Bucks Jail After Disturbance

Fifteen inmates of Bucks County Prison were transferred to the Montgomery County Prison, Norristown yesterday to prevent a repetition of the noisy demonstration of Monday night.

State Police, prison guards and officers from the sheriff's office carried out the transfer with out difficulty.

On Monday night tear gas had to be used to quell a noisy demonstration in the Bucks County Prison. The prisoners shouted, banged cell doors and threw their

Two Zoning Hearings Set

Middletown Township Board of Supervisors will hold public hearings on two proposed zoning changes prior to a special meeting tonight.

The public hearing will start at 7:30 o'clock in the municipal building on Hulmeville Road. The business meeting will immediately follow the zoning hearings.

Under the proposals the supervisors would rezone the property at the northeast corner of Trenton and Woodbourne Roads, Levittown, from commercial to R-2 residential.

The other proposal would rezone a 220 foot strip on the south-easterly side of Langhorne Yardley Road between the Lower Makefield Township line and the Pennsylvania Railroad. Part of this is now zoned M-1 and part M-2. It would be changed to RA-3.

Rain, Winds Arrive, Cooler Weather Coming

The Lower Bucks weather picture was one of rain, winds and cool temperatures today, tonight and most of tomorrow.

The rain is expected to end by tomorrow night and be followed by cooler temperatures and cloudy skies.

Yesterday's high reading was 56 at 4 p.m. and this morning's low was 52 at 6 a.m.

But Dulles Stands Fast On Policy

TAIPEI (UPI)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek failed today to win any major new commitments from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on defending the offshore islands against Communist attack, informed sources reported.

Dulles and Chiang conferred for 45 minutes today in their third meeting and the only American assurance announced was that the U. S. Navy would escort Nationalist supply vessels to Quemoy when and if it is necessary. This was a restatement of an old policy.

Chiang was believed to have pressed Dulles for a statement that the defense of Quemoy and the Matsus was essential to the defense of Formosa itself, but such a statement committing the U. S. armed forces further could come only from President Eisenhower.

The convoy statement issued by the U. S. Embassy came shortly after Premier Chen Cheng urged in a speech that Red China "should be severely punished for their fight-and-talk, talk-and-fight tactics in the Formosa Strait."

Despite Dulles' refusal to go further than previous commitments, the Nationalists still could claim a diplomatic victory.

The Nationalists believed that even with renewed Communist shelling of the Quemoy islands forces or to take other steps to reduce chances of Communist-Nationalist fighting.

But today's convoy statement showed the United States was not backing down from earlier commitments despite Peiping warnings to get out of Formosa. The Communists consider the U.S. convoy escort operations highly provocative, and Dulles might have attempted to persuade Chiang to accept American withdrawal from the escort commitment.

The Communists shattered the Quemoy cease-fire Monday on the specific charge — flatly denied by the United States — that U.S. escort vessels had intruded into the Quemoy and Matsus waters. The United States said it had ceased its escorts Oct. 8 and that they had not resumed.

Three Hurt In Rt. 1 Crash

Two women and a small child were injured this morning when their cars collided on Route 1 west of Hulmeville Road, near Parkland, about 9 a.m.

The injured were Mrs. Nella Davis, 29, of 12 Haveson Ave., Trenton, her daughter, Lynne, two years, and Mrs. Barbara Bronstein, 22, of 7500 Vernon Road, Melrose Park, Montgomery County.

Middletown Township Patrolman Harold Briggs said that apparently Mrs. Davis lost control of her car as it was headed east on Route 1. The car spun out of control veered into the west bound lane and collided with Mrs. Bronstein's car.

The Davis car then careened into a ditch on the west side of the highway. Both cars were demolished. The injured were taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Trevose Heights Rescue Squad. The two women will probably be admitted to the hospital. The child's injuries appear to be minor.

Two Are Charged With Larceny, Receiving Of Stolen Goods

Cooperation between Lower Southampton police and Philadelphia police resulted in the arrest of two men this week on a charge of larceny by employment for one, and receiving stolen property for the other.

Arrested by Lower Southampton police was Walter J. Tongue, 48, 206 Blue Bell Road, Langhorne, who was charged with receiving stolen property after police say he attempted to sell two truck tires and rims to Howard and Albert Yerkes of Bristol and Brownsville Roads, Oakford.

The arrest was made by Officer Thomas Quinn who gave chase after Tongue when he learned of the Langhorne man's attempt to sell the tires below their value. Tongue was interrogated by Police Chief Edward F. Wunsch after spending the night in jail at Doylestown.

According to police, Tongue claimed to have bought the tires from Fred Easton, 1610 No. Darien St., Philadelphia. At a hearing before Squire John Estlow, Oakford, Tongue was released on $1,000 cash bail pending the next

Three Hurt In Rt. 1 Crash

Two women and a small child were injured this morning when their cars collided on Route 1 west of Hulmeville Road, near Parkland, about 9 a.m.

The injured were Mrs. Nella Davis, 29, of 12 Haveson Ave., Trenton, her daughter, Lynne, two years, and Mrs. Barbara Bronstein, 22, of 7500 Vernon Road, Melrose Park, Montgomery County.

Middletown Township Patrolman Harold Briggs said that apparently Mrs. Davis lost control of her car as it was headed east on Route 1. The car spun out of control veered into the west bound lane and collided with Mrs. Bronstein's car.

The Davis car then careened into a ditch on the west side of the highway. Both cars were demolished. The injured were taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Trevose Heights Rescue Squad. The two women will probably be admitted to the hospital. The child's injuries appear to be minor.

Mitchell In Bucks, Sees Job Increase

Cites Upturn In Steel

By Bob Reinhardt
Courier-Times Staff Writer

U. S. Labor Department figures will soon show a new drop of a half million in unemployment, U. S. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said here last night.

The Labor Secretary made the prediction in a supper press conference at the Pennsbury Inn before giving the principal speech at a Bucks County Republican rally in the Goodwill Fire Hall, Bristol.

He said the September-to-October statistics, which will be completed early in November, will show that the number of jobless has declined from 4.1 million to 3.6 million. The pick up in jobs, he said, will result from the automobile industry getting back to full production.

He predicted an increase in steel production, including activity at the Fairless Works of U.S. Steel Corp., to serve the automobile production.

Total employment in September, 1958 was 64,900,000, still below the August, 1957 level of 65,000,000 to 66,000,000, he said, but for next fall, he foresaw a new employment peak "to break all record."

"The recession is over in my opinion," Mitchell said. "In April we had a recession, but now we are on the upturn. All indexes are on the upturn."

Also in his pre-speech interview, Mitchell said that at present he would support Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president in 1960 as "the outstanding potential candidate."

Highest Ranking To Come Here
The labor secretary is the highest ranking government official to visit Bucks County in the current political campaign. In his address at the fire hall he called for election of a Republican Congress and of Arthur T. McGonigle, GOP candidate for governor of Pennsylvania.

At the dinner interview Mitchell also declared that "organized labor makes a very bad mistake in identifying itself with one political party," referring to the support of Democratic candidates by labor unions.

"Labor leaders would better serve their union membership," he said, "if they first looked at the candidates and supported those in the best interest of the membership."

Rank And File
"This is very apparent," he said, "in that in spite of the fact that organized labor supported the Democratic candidate in 1956, President Eisenhower got more votes than his opponent. This would indicate that the rank and file of quarter sessions court in Doylestown. Philadelphia Detectives Robert McCann and James Adair meanwhile arrested Easton. The 47 year old Department of Sanitation employee denied selling the tires to Tongue, according to Philadelphia police. Easton they said, told detectives that the tires must have fallen off the sanitation department truck he had been driving last week and that he didn't know where they had dropped off. He was later released on $500 bail. Chief Wunsch valued the tires and rims at about $400.

(Continued on Page 3)

U. S. Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell is questioned by reporters as he takes supper at Pennsbury Inn, before his address at the Bucks County Republican Rally in Bristol last night. (Courier-Times Photo)

Mitchell Runs Airliner, Fighter Crash Over Anzio

By JOAN NEVINS RINEHART
Society Editor

United States Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell wears the pants in his family. . . but his wife picks them out. While the able secretary is busy running the government, his wife spends her time in Washington D.C.'s men's haberdashery shops buying everything from full dress dinner to ties for her husband.

The distinguished government leader has no complaints about this set-up. If his wife is satisfied with what she selects for him, he's happy too . . . or so he says.

Chatting informally over coffee and ice cream at Pennsbury Inn last evening, Secretary Mitchell was wearing a conservative navy blue suit that was closer to being black in color than blue; a print tie (yellow figures on a dark background), a white tailored men's shirt, dark shoes and socks.

He'll give you a warm smile if you compliment him on his wife's excellent taste in clothing.

L. Rock Still Signs Pupils

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — Tenth and 11th graders register and 12th graders get their first lectures and homework today in the Little Rock Private School Corporation's high school, where the finding of teachers has become the biggest problem.

A Baptist school will have its final day of enrollment today.

W. C. Brashears, superintendent of the private schools, said junior students would enroll at 2:30 p.m. today and "on a day day, Brashears said he had "no sign-up at the same time Thursday, Brashears said he had "no idea" how many students to expect in the two lower grades.

November 1st Deadline
Brashears said he did not know when classes for the sophomores and juniors could start but hoped they could begin by Nov. 1. That is the "point of no return" after which school officials say the eight weeks missed so far can't be made up.

Gov. Orval Faubus ordered the schools closed before the fall term opening to prevent them from being integrated. He blames the federal government for keeping them closed.

ANZIO, Italy (UPI)—A British Viscount airliner with 31 persons aboard collided with a fighter plane over the Anzio beachhead today in foggy skies. Both planes plunged into the sea with heavy loss of life.

BEA officials in London said apparently no one survived on its airliner. The Italian fighter pilot was reported to have parachuted safely.

It was the first in-flight collision involving a civilian plane in Europe's crowded airways since 1949.

BEA said the plane involved carried 26 passengers and a crew of five when it left London today for the Mediterranean island of Malta, with a stop scheduled at Naples.

Anzio, where Allied troops stormed ashore in 1943, is on the coast 80 miles north of Naples.

The collision position was given as over the Italian coastal military target area between Nettuno and Anzio, about 33 miles southwest of Rome.

The in-flight collision came at

(Continued on Page 3)

C-47 Crashes In State

NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa. (UPI) —An Air Force transport plane crashed and burned in a wooded area today five miles south of New Cumberland.

The craft was identified as a C-47 by a spokesman at the nearby Olmsted Air Force Base at Middletown. He said no other details were available at this time.

State police of the Harrisburg Barracks said a witness reported to the sub-station shortly after 10:15 a.m. that the plane crashed near old Route 111, caught fire and exploded.

Col. Charles F. Stack, chief of the office of information services at Olmsted, said the plane was "presumably" coming into the Air Force Base from Youngstown, Ohio, and was only a matter of "five or 10 minutes" from the base when the crash occurred.

He said such planes, used for cargo-carrying, generally had two pilots and possibly two crewmen, depending on the type of cargo carried.

Small Game Season Rules, Hours Listed

The small game season opens in Pennsylvania on Saturday. Check page 21 for a picture feature of "don'ts" plus Dick Dougherty's Fish and Game column.

Hail Hospital Program
U. S. Senator Joseph Clark, Democrat, and Arthur T. McGonigle, Republican candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, today both laud the half million dollar expansion program planned for Lower Bucks County Hospital. See Story on Page 37.

INDEX

Amusement	37	Jacoby on Bridge	8
Classified	34, 35, 36	Movie Time Table	37
Comics	38, 39	Serial	19
Crossword Puzzle	38	Social Club News	13, 14, 15
Dear Abby	14	Sports	21, 22, 23
Editorial	6	TV Programs	39

FBI Probing Derailment Of N. H. Race Track Train

Fiery Speeches Mark GOP Tour

(Continued From Page 1)

declared that the present Democratic state administration has a record of broken promises. Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell declared that the national administration of President Eisenhower in six years has brought American working men and women to a new high standard of living.

Scott said the AFL-CIO found no fault in his voting record on labor legislation. He said he opposed bills for the Tennessee Valley Authority and public power for atomic energy because "I vote the way Pennsylvania wants me to vote."

McGonigle, Scott and Curtin put on a long handshaking session at the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corp., introducing themselves to workers at the plant gate who on Monday met David L. Lawrence, Democratic candidate for governor.

The evening rallies were held in Sellersville and Warminster as well as Bristol. Some candidates engaged in a long distance form of "musical chairs" to speak at more than one rally.

Campaign Issues

McGonigle made his campaign issues "pardons for political reasons," mental health and education and a charge that Gov. George M. Leader, Democrat now running for U. S. Senator, broke promises to oppose a wage tax and end the state sales tax and a charge that Gov. George Leader also came under the fire of Scott, who said he "wouldn't know a foreign policy he ran smack into one. I don't think he even knows where the capital is," Scott added.

The Senate candidate introduced Mitchell to the Bristol audience as "A great and distinguished American — a man who has had the courage to get up and tell the truth all over this country, one of the greatest secretaries of labor this country has ever seen."

The Labor Secretary returned the compliment by saying Scott "has the respect not only of the people of Pennsylvania but of the people of the United States. He praised Curtin as "a man who as much as any legislator I have known represents all of his district."

Wants GOP Congress

Mitchell called for a Republican Congress that would enact Eisenhower measures beneficial for workers and employment.

"Southern Democrats control Congress," he said. "They have no interest in industrial workers. They have no interest in legislation that the worker needs."

Great Strides

"One of the bulwarks of our country," Mitchell said, "is a strong and healthy trade union movement."

Since 1952, the labor secretary said, "our standard of living has made its greatest stride in the history of our country. There are 4,000,000 more men and women working today in America than there were in 1950," he said. "The average monthly wage of workers in this country is $70 a month higher today than it was in 1952. Workers' real wages are at the highest level in the history of our country."

Scott said the Democratic state campaign "reached a crest two or three weeks ago and stands tottering and wheeling and dealing and selling out the rest of the ticket."

He defended American foreign policy in the Far East, against criticism by Leader.

"Only a policy of firmness will stop aggression," Scott said.

Proper Operation

McGonigle said he believes that "what the people of Pennsylvania

Mitchell

(Continued From Page 1)

file doesn't follow the dictates of its leaders."

Mitchell was asked if he would accept for the Republican Congressional candidates the endorsement of James Hoffa, president of the AFL-CIO Teamsters Union who has been under fire and indictment as a result of the investigation by the Senate racket committee. He replied that he would not.

Mr. Hoffa is a symbol of all that is wrong with labor," he said. "I am irrevocably opposed to Mr. Hoffa and all he stands for," Mitchell said.

Deaths

RESTLE, Oct. 22, 1958. Sharon Lee, daughter of William and Lorette Restle, (nee Jennings), of 414 Anderson Road, Fairless Hills, Pa., relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral on Thursday at 8:30 a.m. from Molder's Funeral Chapel, 123 Otter Street, Bristol. Angel mass 9:30 a.m. St. Francis of Cabrini Church, Fairless Hills. Interment Our Lady of Grace Cemetery. Friends may call Wednesday evening. Survived by her parents, 1 brother, William 3rd, of Fairless Hills, and her grandparents, Mr. & Mrs. William Restle, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jennings, Bristol Township.

want is proper operation of a pardon board, not wholesale release of criminals. Pardons for political reasons will stop when I am governor," he said.

For the evening speech, McGonigle announced "I am taking off my gloves for a hard hitting campaign speech."

"I can't much as I would like to be your governor, come to you and make false promises," he said.

He charged that Lawrence had dodged questions on the tax policy he would seek as governor. "He says 'I don't know,'" McGonigle said. "And he doesn't." Lenox Markley, Bucks County prothonotary, was chairman of the Bristol rally. Master of ceremonies was Edward B. Boyer, of Levittown, Assistant County GOP Chairman.

Ike To Take Tough Policy On Television

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI) — President Eisenhower today prepared to try his new slam-bang technique of attacking the Democrats on a nationwide radio and television audio from the heart of the Midwest.

Republican contributors were so pleased by Eisenhower's hard-punching speech in Los Angeles earlier this week that they put up funds to finance a national radio and TV hookup of his address at 8:30 p.m., e.d.t.

The Chief Executive arrived here late Tuesday night from San Francisco. After catching up on his sleep and rest at the Sheraton-Buckstone Hotel, he planned a full day of political activity before climaxing his 5,300-mile campaign swing in the International Amphitheater tonight before an audience of party workers.

Committee Finances Broadcast. Eisenhower's broadcast from Chicago originally was scheduled as a 15-state Midwest regional affair. However, the reaction to his speech in Los Angeles, where he called the Democrats "left-wing radicals" attempting to dominate the country by "demagogic excess" was quickly communicated to the White House.

The National Citizens For Eisenhower - Nixon 1958 Committee notified the White House and the Republican National Committee Tuesday that it would put up the money to carry the President's remarks coast to coast tonight, over the combined CBS radio and television networks.

The President was to meet with a group of Republican women at a coffee klatch at the hotel an hour before delivering an address over a special Midwest radio network at a meeting of the Illinois Federation of Women's Republican Clubs.

Writing Speech

The afternoon was to be given over to talks with GOP leaders and posing for pictures with Republican candidates for Congress and state offices.

His speech tonight still was in the process of preparation today by Dr. Malcolm Moos, the chief White House speech writer, and Bryce N. Harlow, another presidential speech specialist.

Moos is generally regarded as being responsible for the new sharp, punchy tone of the President's political phrases.

Eisenhower has been on tour since last Friday when he started his speaking tour at the national corn picking contest near Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The afternoon was to be given over to talks with GOP leaders and posing for pictures with Republican candidates for Congress and state offices.

His speech tonight still was in the process of preparation today by Dr. Malcolm Moos, the chief White House speech writer, and Bryce N. Harlow, another presidential speech specialist.

Moos is generally regarded as being responsible for the new sharp, punchy tone of the President's political phrases.

Eisenhower has been on tour since last Friday when he started his speaking tour at the national corn picking contest near Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The afternoon was to be given over to talks with GOP leaders and posing for pictures with Republican candidates for Congress and state offices.

His speech tonight still was in the process of preparation today by Dr. Malcolm Moos, the chief White House speech writer, and Bryce N. Harlow, another presidential speech specialist.

The Levittown Times

The Delaware Valley's Great Home Newspaper

Rescue Unit Trailer Hits Parked Cars

A trailer with a boat from the Fairless Hills Fire Company collided with two parked cars yesterday during the 12-hour fruitless search for the body of a Mount Holly, N.J. boy who fell into the Buttonwood stream.

The Fairless Hills trailer was part of the equipment used in the rescue attempt to locate the whereabouts of Bruce Joyce, 3, of 33 Church St., Mount Holly.

Rescuers were to resume the search for the small boy today after a 12-hour hunt in the stream yesterday failed to turn up any indication of the missing lad.

More than 300 men including 16 Bucks County rescue companies participated with New Jersey companies in the search for the lad.

The boat trailer was driven by Thomas J. Painter Jr., 31, of 2360 Oxford Valley Road, Fairless Hills.

Appeal Filed By Hospital

The Delaware Valley Hospital, Bristol, has filed an appeal in Bucks County Court seeking to become exempt from real estate taxes.

A petition signed by Dr. George Levenson, president and Walter W. Jackson, secretary of the hospital asks the court to hear an appeal of the recent decision of the county board of assessment of taxes and revision refusing the exemption of party workers.

The petition describes the Delaware Valley Hospital as a non-profit osteopathic hospital. It says evaluation of $35,000 was put on the building and grounds. This would provide an assessment of $10,500 for tax purposes.

The hospital officials maintain that they believe that under state law, the hospital should be tax exempt.

An appeal was filed with the county tax board July 18. The board held a hearing the next day and on Oct. 7, denied the exemption.

Judge I. Louis Rubin sets Dec. 30 as the date the court will hear the appeal of the tax board decision.

Boro Demos Keeping Quiet

Bristol Borough Democrats are playing hide and seek today.

Last night, the Borough Democratic Committee held a special meeting. The scheduled topic was the current disagreements between Burgess Anthony R. Nicoletti and Borough Manager Ira Gates.

Reliable sources indicated last night's meeting was called by the Burgess in an attempt to gather strength for the Burgess before an Oct. 30 executive meeting of Bristol Borough Council.

But nobody is talking this morning. Attempts to question various Democrats about last night's meeting have been futile. Borough officials are not answering phones or talking to reporters.

The Gates-Nicoletti feud came out in the open last week when both men acknowledged that they had "personal differences." The executive meeting on Oct. 30 has reportedly been called to settle the conflict between the Burgess and the borough manager.

Meanwhile, there are strong rumors emanating from the borough to indicate that there is a movement on to reduce the number of Borough Council members from the existing 13 man body down to a streamlined group of about six.

Lack Sewer Permits, Owners Face Hearings

Several residents are being summoned to appear before Neal Nolan, Morrisville justice of the peace, on Friday, for failing to secure a sewer connection permit.

Summoned was Ted Ledondsky, 255 Althea Ave. Officer Clifton Morris served notice.

Also summoned were Alfred and Francis of 325 Barclay Ave. and Francis and Rose Radoska, 690 Hillcrest Ave. Notice was served by Officer Mahlon Cummings in both cases.

United For Fund

Miss Margaret T. Strupcowski, Pennsbury Education Association building representative for the Fallsington School and a Delaware Valley United Fund co-worker pledges a United Fund contribution to Laura Reynolds (right) welfare chairman for PEA. Fallsington was the first Pennsbury school to have 100 per cent participation in United Fund. (Courier-Times Photo)

Seven Men Arrested In Gambling Raid

Seven men, five of them Lower Bucks County residents, were arrested in a gambling raid by Middletown Township Police 2:20 a.m. today.

George Atkins, of 406 Station Ave., Langhorne Manor, was charged with operating and maintaining a gambling establishment and disorderly conduct. The other six were charged with disorderly conduct.

The men were arrested in an office on Route 1 near Langhorne. Ten Middletown Township Police, led by Chief Howard C. Shook and Lt. Joseph Zalot, swooped down on the office.

Police report that when they entered the seven suspects were sitting around a table. A large amount of money and playing cards were on the table.

Atkins was released in the custody of his attorney for a hearing to be held Nov. 3, before JP John Melvin, of Fallsington.

The other six men were released after they paid $10 fine and $9 costs.

The six men are: George Kozak, of 51 Serpentine Lane, Stony Brook, Vincent Mazzanti, 35 Deep Dale Drive West, both of Levittown; John Luciano River Road, Tullytown; Fred Waits, of Manor Lake Drive, Morrisville R. D. 1; Howard McKim, 3114 Nevers St., Philadelphia; and Vincent DiBenedetto, of 24 Barrett St., Trenton.

The officers participating in the raid were: Sgt. George Praul, Patrolmen Charles Bates, James Klein, Anthony Ferguson, Frank McKenna, George Haller, Stephen Ambrose and William Bain.

Baroness, 2 Musicians Held On Narcotics Charge

NEW CASTLE, Del. (UPI) — Divorced French Baroness Kathleen Rothschild DeKoenigswarder, internationally known jazz pianist Thelonious Monk and a second New York musician, were continued in $5,000 bail each here Tuesday on narcotics charges.

Police testified that when they called to quell a disturbance between Monk and the manager of a nearby motel, they discovered a quantity of marijuana in the Baroness' $19,000 automobile.

The third defendant was identified as Charles Rouse, 35, one of the nation's top saxophonists.

Monk's attorney, Theophilus R. Nix, told magistrate Samuel Hatton that his client was unable to appear because he collapsed in a New York railroad station en route here. Nix said that Monk was taken to Rivercrest, a Long Island sanatorium.

Hatton continued the suspects in the bail that had been posted at a previous hearing. Monk was held, at that time, in an additional $300 bail for creating a disturbance with Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Tonge at the motel they operated last Wednesday.

Police testified that the trio drove up to the motel in the Baroness' 12-cylinder Bentley Continental. Officers called to quell the disturbance said they found a bottle and a tin can containing marijuana in the Baroness' suitcase in the back of the expensive sedan.

Wilmington Police Inspector Edwin S. Rich testified that he advised the state police to send the contents of the containers to Philadelphia for analysis and the report showed it was marijuana.

The Home Loan Bank Board announced Tuesday night that the associations may write mortgage loans up to 90 per cent of a house's appraised value. The limit had been 80 per cent.

Thus, a buyer who is financing a $15,000 house will be able to borrow up to $13,500 instead of $12,000. The down payment may be, therefore, as little as $5,500 instead of $3,000.

The amended rules become effective Thursday. The new ceiling will apply on loans up to $18,000 in an effort to funnel money into financing of low and medium priced housing.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Actress Barbara Stanwyck, 51, was reported resting comfortably today in St. John's Hospital where she was admitted Tuesday suffering from lung congestion.

Dr. George Ainlay Sr. said the veteran film star was taken to the hospital to guard against pneumonia, an illness from which Miss Stanwyck suffered in 1952.

Plows Into Two Unloaded Grain Cars

METHUEN, Mass. (UPI) — The FBI early today began an "inquiry" into reports that the Boston & Maine's "Rockingham Special" which jumped the tracks Tuesday night, was deliberately derailed.

The report was made by police and railroad officials shortly after the accident which injured more than a score of persons, 14 of whom required hospitalization. All but four were released early today and those who remained were in "good" condition.

The slow moving two car Buddliner, carrying 47 persons from night harness racing at Rockingham Race Track in Salem, N. H., went off the main track in the center of this community and plowed into the first of two unloaded grain cars parked on a siding.

A Buddliner is a single-unit railroad car used primarily for commuter purposes. It may be operated from either end. Several units may be connected together to form a train.

George Hill, public relations director for the railroad, said a lock had been "removed from a switch and the switch tampered with sometime after the train had got through on its way to Rockingham Park earlier in the evening." This threw the train onto the siding where the freight cars were parked.

He explained that the line was used only by the special race track train and freight service.

Hill said the broken lock was found on the ground next to the switch.

Willis G. Lyman, superintendent of the B & M police, said he believed the wreck was caused by juveniles.

A spokesman for the FBI said the agent in charge had ordered an "inquiry" into the case but he added that a full scale investigation by the federal agency had not been authorized.

Prosecution Rests Case

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Commonwealth rested its case Tuesday against Gus A. DeMoss, 53, Tulsa, Okla., police radio dispatcher charged with the robbery-slaying of Mrs. Luibet Rossman.

The Commonwealth rested after the last of its 70 witnesses testified.

Defense Counsel Albert S. Olinch and Donald P. Goldberg asked Judge Edward J. Griffiths to dismiss the charge on ground the prosecution had proved no more than association by DeMoss with three other men already convicted in the crime.

Before resting, the Commonwealth showed how the cleverness of a Las Vegas, Nev., detective led to the arrest of the four suspects in the hotel slaying here of Mrs. Rossman on July 3, 1955.

Detective Richard Dunn became suspicious when he noticed two of the defendants, Raymond P. Wilson of Tulsa and Frank Ellisworth, Tampa, Fla., patting to visit different gambling houses in Las Vegas.

Dunn followed Ellisworth and saw him buy $900 worth of chips, gamble for a few minutes and then cash the money. He said Ellisworth repented the procedure at another gambling house.

Car His Abutment, Trenton Man Hurt

An automobile ran into the center divider on the lower bridge, Morrisville, early this morning causing total loss of the vehicle and injuries to the owner.

The driver Herman Woznicki, 34, of 317 Ellis Ave. Trenton was rushed to Mercer Hospital by a Trenton police ambulance for possible chest and rib injuries. At the hospital he received one stitch on his upper lip.

Woznicki will be summoned for reckless driving. Morrisville officers Frank Picciotti and Joseph DiGiorgio investigated.

Three Levittown Youths Injured

Three 16-year-old Levittown youths were injured when the Volkswagen they were riding in rolled over in Highland Park, last night.

Middletown Township Police reported John E. Zamba, of 55 Deep Dale Drive, East, was driving the car on Heartwood Road. Zamba told police he swerved to avoid a parked car and his car rolled over.

Zamba, Stephen Gross, 20 Fox Grove Road, Forsythia Gate, and Henry Dunn, 73 Deep Dale Drive East, were treated at Lower Bucks County Hospital for cuts and bruises.

Mickey Cohen Arrested

Mickey Cohen, notorious West Coast gambler, is shown leaving Philadelphia Police Station, yesterday, in the custody of Captain Clarence Ferguson, (right) Police broke into Cohen's hotel room and arrested him for violation of the Criminal Registration Act. (UPI Telephoto)

Former DA Cries Foul In Cohen Arrest

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A former Philadelphia district attorney cried foul today at the arrest of reformed Los Angeles hoodlum Mickey Cohen in his hotel room last night.

Former District Attorney Samuel Dash said he had received assurances from Police Commissioner Thomas Gibbons and District Attorney Victor H. Blane that Cohen would not be molested during a trip here to consult Dash on legal business.

Police broke down the door of Cohen's hotel room Tuesday night and arrested him with shaving lather on his face on charges of being a common gambler and failing to register under the city's criminal registration law.

"It's a crying shame," Dash said. He said Cohen was used to being treated like this in Los Angeles but that he had promised him, "our police were saner—that this is the cradle of liberty."

Cohen and his Los Angeles attorney, Samuel Brady, flew here Tuesday. The pint-sized underworld figure said he had retained Dash as his attorney in a libel suit against a magazine here.

Dash said he had received assurances from the two city officials before inviting Cohen to come here to consult with him. But Detective Capt. Clarence Ferguson described Cohen as the "number one gambler in the country and a marked man." He said an attempt on Cohen's life could "endanger the citizenry of Philadelphia."

Dash said there was no legal basis for the arrest. He said Cohen is not required to register under the criminal registration law because he has never been convicted of gambling or of felony—only for violating income tax laws.

The men are: Frank E. Carver, Woodbourne and Emilie Roads, RD 1, Bristol; Rodney Kauffman, 111 East Maple Ave., Langhorne; and Morris T. Crowley, 202-A National Ave., Langhorne. The fourth suspect, 17, was released in the custody of his parents because he is a juvenile.

All three men were committed to Bucks County Prison before bail was set. Squire Oettinger said. The men were later released on $2,000 bail, for hearing at 6 p.m., Friday, he said.

Airliner

(Continued From Page 1)

12:50 p.m. (8:50 a.m. e.d.t.) as the Viscount was descending toward Naples' Capodichino Airport.

The Viscount collided with an Italian Air Force F-84 jet plane on a training flight.

Anzio and Nettuno are practically the same city, with the community centers only a few miles apart.

The Italian jet was reported to have sheered off the left wing of the British transport.

The four-engine Viscount fluttered down and crashed in the military zone of the Italian artillery experimental center of Nettuno.

Shortly before 3 p.m. (10 a.m. e.d.t.), the Italian news agency Ansa said 15 bodies had been recovered from the British plane.

BEA headquarters in Rome said the Viscount was flying at an altitude of 23,000 feet on the regular London-Naples-Malta run.

Births
Lower Bucks Hospital

Oct. 20
ski, 347 N. Woodland Ave., Penn. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lydzindel, boy.

Oct. 21
Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Deck, 1 Appleot Lane, Levittown, boy.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hafler, 311 Appletree Drive, Levittown, boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Kyle, 10 Laurel Lane, Feasterville, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mitchell, 412 River Road, Crofton, boy.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rabuck, 112 Trenton Circle, Fairless Hills, boy.

The Ben Franklin Junior High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association meeting, originally scheduled for tonight has been postponed until next Wednesday night.